Today's email features a photo from the front doors of a law office that quit the Post Office Building after 34 years of business and moved to Long Beach. They could no longer take the tripping and smell of the the local Urban Campers as promised and quoted in a publication over a year ago. The move comes in the face of San Pedro Chamber of Commerce's program to pitch San Pedro as a great place to visit, live and WORK. I guess the office personnel didn't get the Chamber's memo. Further, this follows another business from the second floor leaving 2 months ago. When will the SPCC and its Board Members step up and actually do something to promote a better work environment. Why not discuss this at one of the fabulous MIXERS. Until there is a concerted SCREAM from the business community the Council Office will continue to be deaf and blind.

The other photos ( maybe a calendar keeper in there) reflect a piece of the condition that has been here for years and is not getting better. No wonder the exodus of tax paying citizens to Long Beach.
